Community Information Exchange

Michigan's Roadmap to Healthy Communities

Michigan's Roadmap to Healthy Communities

Key Aspects:

SDOH Hubs: Community-based networks are designed to identify and address SDOH needs by bringing together local partners and community members to build a framework for collaboration and capacity.

Health in All Priorities: HiAP ensures that health equity is considered and promoted in the development of policies across various sectors, not just public health.

Focus Areas: Targets specific SDOH factors, such as housing stability, food and nutrition security, and access to resources within the built environment.

Partnerships and Collaboration: The strategy emphasizes engaging various stakeholders, including state agencies, local communities and different sectors, to create a unified and resilient approach to improving community well-being.

SDOH Hubs have launched!

They're here to bridge gaps between health care and social care, boosting health equity and well-being for everyone.

Michigan's SDOH Hubs

SDOH Hubs support the development and implementation of Community Information Exchanges (CIE), Community Health Worker (CHW) Initatives, and Health in All Policies (HiAP) strategies.

Anticipated outcomes include:

- Increased alignment across health and social care
- Improve access to state resources
- Reduce health disparities
- Increase accountability and transparencey
- Increase commitment to community driven work

Addressing Social Needs in Health Care Settings: Evidence, Challenges, and Opportunities for Public Health

'At present, however, such partnerships may be the exception: only 30% of hospitals and health systems in a national survey reported having fully-functional formal partnerships with community-based social needs providers, and 70% did not have dedicated funds to address social needs for all their target populations.'
